MEMORANDUM FOR: Chief, Logistics Services Division, OL

Dear John:

It would not be possible to describe the excellence of the cuisine and the superb level of service which was demonstrated by the personnel of the Executive Dining Room on the occasion of Colonel White's retirement party on Thursday, 17 February. Neither the cuisine nor the service could be exceeded by any establishment, regardless of its reputation or price of the dinner.

May I add my own humble note of thanks to Jack Coffey's note and extend a most sincere "well done" to [redacted]

Dear John:

The input of [redacted] to the most successful re-tirement dinner given for Colonel White on Thursday, 17 February, is difficult to stress. The decor of the room, the beauty of the personal present, and the attention to the matters of protocol, all of which were noted by all in attendance, are a direct result of Helen's taste, breeding, and "know how." I can only add my own whole-hearted agreement with the thought expressed in Jack Coffey's attached note.
